*Since statistics are reported weekly, the Broadway season of 52 weeks amounts to 364 days. Therefore, a week is added to the Broadway season every seven years.

Playing weeks represent the overall number of weeks of performance logged by all productions during the season. Gross represents the Gross Gross. Attendance represents paid and complimentary tickets. % capacity reflects the percentage of available seats filled (attendance / capacity). Average paid admission = total gross / total attendance. The numbers of performances include previews. New productions reflect productions that officially opened within that season.

¹The 2019-20 season was cut short by the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic which led to a complete shutdown of Broadway in March 2020. The season tallies for the 2019-20 season reflect performances through the week ending March 8, 2020, the last full week of performances of that season. The 2021-22 season marked the return of Broadway. However, the start of the season was delayed by 10 weeks; re-openings were staggered; and there were numerous COVID-related cancellations of performances, including during the December/New Year's holidays.
